COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY FACULTY HOUSE
RABI-WARNER CONCERTS
SPONSORED BY THE OFFICE OF THE PROVOST

SPRING 2012 SCHEDULE

February 22
Hanne Ladefoged-Dollase, contralto; Nelson Padgett, piano; Works by Mahler, Schumann, Richard Strauss as part of Launching her new German lieder CD

February 29
Debra Vanderlinde, soprano; Dan Franklin Smith, piano; Primarily Strauss program with additions of Schumann and Berg

March 7
Frank Foerster, viola; Elena Perez, violin; all-Mozart program: Sinfonia concertante and Sonata for violin and viola

March 14
Vered Resnik, piano; Works by Mozart and Scriabin

March 21
Corey-James Crawford, counter-tenor; Martin Neron, piano; Greek Art Songs by Manos Hadjidakis

March 28
Candice Hoyes, soprano; Spanish songs and arias for voice and piano

April 4
Marion and Rosita Scott, duo-pianists; Works for solo and duo piano by Brahms, Schumann, and Mendelssohn

April 11
Milton Farbstein, piano; Works by Chopin, Debussy, and Stravinsky

April 18
Kinga Augustin, solo violin; Works by J. S. Bach, Ysaye, and Paganini

April 25
Katsura Tanikawa, piano; Works by Bach, Debussy, Lizst, and Chopin

All concerts begin at 12:15 p.m.

Programs are subject to change.

About the Rabi-Warner Concerts
The noon-hour Rabi-Warner Concert series of classical music features professional performers. Concerts are free and open to the public.

The series is named for two Columbia professors who helped champion the concerts: Nobel physicist I.I. Rabi, University Professor Emeritus and an active member of the Faculty House, and Aaron W. Warner, Buttenwieser Professor Emeritus of Human Relations, Former Director of the University Seminars, and President Emeritus of the Faculty House Board of Advisors.

Directions
Faculty House is located at Columbia University’s East Campus at 64 Morningside Drive. Enter via courtyard on 116th St. between Amsterdam Ave. & Morningside Drive. Walk around Wien Hall and follow the path to the last building on the right.

Additional Information
Visit facultyhouse.com or phone Suzanne Fremon at (212) 749-0800.