

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY FACULTY HOUSE
RABI-WARNER CONCERTS
SPONSORED BY THE OFFICE OF THE PROVOST

FALL 2011 SCHEDULE

October 19

Janice LaMarre, viola; Yi-Fang Huang, piano
Works by Schubert, Brahms & transcriptions
by Michael Kates

October 26

David Wordsworth & Janet Obi-Keller, duo-pianists
Works by Hilary Tann, Lionel Sainsbury &
Sergei Rachmaninov

November 2

What a Neighborhood! Shannon Roberts, soprano, & Orfeo Duo—Ishmael Wallace, piano & baritone,
and Vita Wallace, violin & accordion—perform
music by neighborhood composers

November 9

Maksim Shtrykov, clarinet; Alina Kiryayeva, piano
“Romantic Clarinet,” a program from the Romantic
Era, including a transcription of Robert Schumann’s
Violin sonata

November 16

Nicholas Anderson, unaccompanied cello
Works by J. S. Bach and Kodaly

November 23
NO CONCERT

November 30

Jonathan Newell, piano
Works by Beethoven, Chopin and original compositions

December 7

Natsuko Uemura, harpsichord
Works by J. S. Bach & Antoine Forqueray

December 14

Chamber Music from the Juilliard School

All concerts begin at 12:15 p.m.

Programs are subject to change.

About the Rabi-Warner Concerts

The noon-hour Rabi-Warner Concert series of classical music features professional performers. Concerts are free and open to the public.

The series is named for two Columbia professors who helped champion the concerts: Nobel physicist I.I. Rabi, University Professor Emeritus and an active member of the Faculty House, and Aaron W. Warner, Buttenwieser Professor Emeritus of Human Relations, Former Director of the University Seminars, and President Emeritus of the Faculty House Board of Advisors.

Directions

Faculty House is located at Columbia University’s East Campus at 64 Morningside Drive. Enter via courtyard on 116th St. between Amsterdam Ave. & Morningside Drive. Walk around Wien Hall and follow the path to the last building on the right.

Additional Information

Visit facultyhouse.com or phone Suzanne Fremon at (212) 749-0800.